SEYMOUR LANDS 1917 CONVENTION

Indiana Retail Merchants' Association Chooses This City for Next Annual Meeting.

OTHER CITIES WERE AFTER IT

H. L. Bridges and L. L. Bollinger, Delegates of Local Association Make Successful Fight.

Seymour will have the honor of entertaining the 1917 convention of the Retail Merchants' Association of Indiana, having been selected this afternoon as the next convention city at the convention now in session at Lafayette. This was the word received by the Republican this afternoon from L. L. Bollinger and H. L. Bridges, representatives of the Seymour Retail Merchants' Association at the Lafayette meeting.

Messrs. Bridges and Bollinger went to Lafayette fully determined to land the next meeting for Seymour, and despite the fact that Muncie and other cities wanted the convention, the local men succeeded in convincing the Indiana merchants that this was the place to come. The Seymour delegates went after the meeting in the right manner, talked Seymour and handed out Seymour

VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL RETURNED BY THE JURY

Shade Brothers of Redding Township, Found Not Guilty of Alleged Theft of Corn.

Edward and Martin Shade, brothers, of Redding township, were acquitted late Wednesday afternoon by a jury of the charge of larceny. The trial had been in progress for several days and had attracted much interest on account of the large number of witnesses that had been summoned. The jury retired about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and was not ready to report until about 6 o'clock in the afternoon. It is understood that more than half of the jurors voted for acquittal on the first ballot.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

Chances are Said to be Against Recovery of Jacob Montel.

The condition of Jacob Montel, an aged resident of Vallonia, who swallowed a teaspoonful of Paris green Monday, is regarded as critical and his recovery is doubtful. It is said that he took the poison with suicidal intent. According to reports, Montel has a small indebtedness on his home and because of his age and lack of employment he had been unable to pay much recently on the debt.

ODD FELLOWS COMING FOR BIG MEETING TOMORROW

Grand Officers of State to Be Here For Conference With Representatives of Lodges of The County.

DEGREE MEETINGS IN EVENING

Odd Fellows from every lodge in Jackson county and from several lodges outside of the county will gather in Seymour tomorrow for the county meeting and conference, with the officers of the Grand Lodge, Encampment and Rebekah Assembly as guests.

The meeting will commence in the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with a round table conference with the grand officers and representatives of the various branches of the order. In the evening both the subordinate and Rebekah lodges will have degree meetings, the Rebekah meeting to be held in the K. of P. hall. At the subordinate lodge meeting the first

CANTON SEYMOUR TO BE INSPECTED TONIGHT

Installation of Officers And Annual Banquet Also on Program For Meeting This Evening.

The annual inspection of Canton Seymour No. 11, P. M., I. O. O. F. will be held this evening at the I. O. O. F. hall, the inspection being in charge of Past Dept. Commander Jos. A. DeHority, of Elwood. Following the inspection the officers for the ensuing year will be installed, and the annual banquet will be served.

This is the big event of the year for the Canton, and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated by the chevaliers and officers. The company expects to attend the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge at Chattanooga next fall, and contest for prizes offered, and preliminary plans for this event will be discussed tonight.

MEETING IS HELD BY REPUBLICANS

Conference Called in This City at Which Provisions of Primary Law Are Discussed.

TOWNSHIPS ARE REPRESENTED

Form of Petitions for Candidates for County Office and Precinct Committeemen Explained.

Republicans of the various townships of the county seat met this afternoon at the city building at the request of County Chairman Frank Brady, of Crothersville, to discuss the provisions of the new primary law and make arrangements for the primaries to be held in March. The meeting was purely business, according to Chairman Brady, and was called so that representatives from the various townships would become more familiar with the requirements of the new law. Several Republicans were present from some of the townships.

One of the features discussed was the filing of petitions for precinct committeemen and candidates. These must be filed a certain number of days before the primaries are held and in this respect the law is mandatory. The form of the petitions was considered and explained by leaders who have given close attention to the question.

Mingling among the crowd of Republicans were prospective candidates for the several offices. The Republican

REPUBLICANS WILL MEET AT BROWNSTOWN TUESDAY

A. M. Hall, of Indianapolis, will be Principal Speaker—State Candidates to Attend.

A mass meeting at which the opening gun of the Republican county campaign will be fired, will be held at Brownstown next Tuesday afternoon. Announcement of the meeting was made at the conference held in this city this afternoon. Although the time is short for advertising the meeting throughout the county, the party workers are enthusiastic over the plans and a big crowd is promised.

A. M. Hall, of Indianapolis, will deliver the principal address at the meeting. It will be called to order by the county chairman at 1 o'clock. A number of candidates for state and county offices will be present and the day promises to be one of great importance in Republican county affairs.

Mrs. Cora Cumming Dead.

Announcement of the death of Mrs. Cora Cumming at Indianapolis has been received here. She formerly lived in this city and had many friends here. She underwent an operation recently for cancer. Funeral will take place at Indianapolis with burial at Crown Hill Cemetery.

REPORTS WILL BE FILED SATURDAY

Second Meeting of Centennial Committee will be Held at Library in This City.

COUNTY SOCIETY PROPOSED

Recommendations will Probably be Made Concerning Erection of Proper Memorials.

The second meeting of the committee having charge of the arrangement for the Indiana Centennial celebration in this county will be held at the library Saturday. Important matters are to be discussed and it is possible that a definite outline to be followed will be agreed upon. Several committees are to make reports among which are those appointed to make recommendations for a county celebration, historical monuments in the county, Jackson County Historical Association and the celebrations in the various corporations. The general committee will work with the county, town and city schools. At the initial meeting the committee agreed to meet the fourth Saturday of each month. Superintendent T. A. Mott, of the city schools, is county chairman.

One of the important reports will be filed by the committee to investigate sites where monuments could be erected. The committee is composed of Henry Aldredge, M. S. Blish and A. Summers and has had considerable correspondence about the matter. If monuments are erected during the year the committee not only desires to find the most prominent historical places but must be assured that the history surrounding them is authentic. This entails considerable research work.

One of the letters received by Mr. Blish was from George Pence, a member of the state board of ac-

SLEET DAMAGE PREVENTED BY RISING TEMPERATURE

Streets and Country Highways Dangerously Slick at an Early Hour Today.

TELEPHONE SERVICE ESCAPES

Rising temperature doubtless prevented damage from the sleet early today. With one of two exceptions all the telephone lines in the county escaped damage and the service of the long distance companies and telegraph companies was not interrupted. The wires and trees early today were covered with ice but the warmer weather melted it rapidly relieving the pressure before any breaks occurred. Linemen say that if the temperature reported at an early hour had continued long many of the telephone systems would have been in trouble before noon.

The local telephone company reported no trouble with any lines under its control. Two privately owned lines into the Brownstown exchange were out of commission today and the trouble was attributed to the ice and sleet. The line between Brownstown and Cortland has been out for several days due to the high water. Some of the poles were washed away and others are down. Repairs are being made on the system to restore the service as soon as possible. The B. & O. Southwestern, Western Union and Postal telegraph lines are working as usual.

The streets and country roads were dangerously slick this morning but the ice was melting before the traffic became heavy. The usual rush at the blacksmith shops when the streets are slippery was reported today. Local hardware dealers had a number of calls today for ice cleats from persons who found it necessary to tramp around over the streets.

HALF OF SCHOOL YEAR IS CLOSED

First Semester Will be Completed Friday and Examinations Are Held in All Departments.

PLANS FOR PRIMARY CLASSES

Superintendent Mott Arranges For Beginners to Enter School With The Second Semester.

Friday will mark the close of the first semester of the public schools. Examinations are being held in the high school and the grades on subjects that were studied during the first half of the school year. The high school will complete its examinations this afternoon and the last of the tests will be held in the grades tomorrow. The teachers will complete the reports at once so they can be distributed among the pupils the first of next week.

The second semester will begin Monday morning and Superintendent Mott urges that all pupils who have been absent from school because of illness or for other reason make arrangements to begin their work with the opening of the new semester. It is pointed out that the class work will be taken up from a new standpoint and it will be to the advantage of the scholars who have missed some of the work to enter the classes at that time. Because of the siege of the grip which has swept through this section of Indiana during the last few weeks a number of pupils have been absent from school although the percentage in this city has been much less than that in many other places.

Superintendent Mott also announces that there will be new classes for beginners. For several years primary classes have not been organized at the midway term but arrangements have been made for pri-

WILSON MAKES PLANS FOR HIS PREPAREDNESS TRIP

President Decides It Will be Unnecessary for Him to Take Along Military Representative.

INDIANA IS NOT INCLUDED

Washington, January 20—President Wilson has decided it is unnecessary for him to take a representative of the army or navy with him on his preparedness trip.

It had been suggested that it would be advantageous to have an expert on military affairs to give facts and advice on this country's needs for building up its defenses. This plan, however, after being considered, has been discarded, it became known today. Probably the only persons accompanying the president will be Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Grayson, the White House physician. Tentative plans for the trip outlined today did not mention Indiana.

Clothes-Money Club.

The Hub has established a weekly payment club whereby the members can take out a card in either the 10c, 15c or 25c class and make weekly payments until they have paid in a sufficient amount to secure any article they might wish. By this plan any man or boy in Seymour should be able to save a small amount each week which would never be missed and yet soon accumulate a sum sufficient to buy good clothes, the proposition is fully explained in their large advertisement on page eight and is worthy of consideration. dlt

VILLA ISSUES CHALLENGE TO CARRANZA SOLDIERS

"Come and Get Me" is the Substance of the Message Sent to Leaders in Mexican Man Hunt.

By United Press.
El Paso, January 20—From Francisco Villa's stronghold in the Mexican mountains came today a defy to the Carranza government's order proclaiming the chief bandit's life forfeited on sight.

"Come and get me" was the substance of his challenge that filtered through to the picked Carranza soldiers hunting him. Leaders in this man hunt expect Villa to put up a desperate fight. They hardly hope to take him alive. The proclamation authorizing anyone to shoot Villa on sight was a formality. He is unapproachable except by his trusted soldiers.

"MOTHER" JONES IS GIVEN RECEPTION

Stampedes Convention of Miners at Indianapolis and Serves in Role of Peace Maker.

LONG, BITTER FIGHT ENDED

President White and Duncan McDonald Clasp Hands—Vote on Germer Resolution.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, January 20—"Mother" Mary Jones today stampeded the convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

Following an address in which her unpolished oratory raised the 1,500 miner delegates to a fury of enthusiasm, she forced Duncan McDonald of Illinois, to come up to the platform and shake hands with the president, J. P. White. It ended one of the bitterest struggles that has threatened the miners' organization for years. The convention then called for Adolph Germer, whose resolution had caused the trouble, to meet White on the platform, and when "Mother" Jones joined in the call Germer clasped hands with White.

With Germer and McDonald won over "Mother" Jones demanded a vote on Germer's resolution, which called for a committee of three to probe the expenditures of the administration. There was a tremendous volume of voices to sanction the action of the committee in killing Germer's resolution.

ANSWER IS DUE

Time of Ultimatum Delivered to Greek Government Expires.

By United Press.
Rotterdam, January 20.—The ultimatum to the Greek government by the Allies was delivered last Monday, and expired yesterday, the Sophia correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung wired today. The answer made by King Constantine is not yet known.

The report follows: This correspondent corroborated dispatches from other sources reaching Berlin. He declared that the Anglo-French note demanded that all German, Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish diplomats and consuls be handed their passports. If Greece ignored or refused to accede to this request the Sophia dispatches said the Allies gave warning that they would take steps to protect their interests.

HIGGINS RETURNED

AMERICAN TRADE TO BE DISCUSSED

Position of United States is Factor in Proposed British Blockade of German Ports.

NEW PLANS ARE CONSIDERED

Grey Declares That Reports Calling Present Blockade a Farce are "Grossly Unfair."

By United Press.
London, January 20.—Announcements of the government's policy toward the proposal that a blockade be established about the entire German coast probably will be made next week.

Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, told Commons this afternoon, that the whole situation with regard to American trade statistics and the foreign office's policy will be discussed at parliament next week.

The foreign secretary gave no indication as to how far Great Britain is prepared to go to prevent shipments from reaching Germany.

He did complain, however, that London newspaper articles, purporting to show that the present "blockade" is a farce and does not stop shipments to Germany, are "grossly unfair."

TEUTONIC FORCES LEAVE THE GREEK FRONTIER

Correspondent of Daily Mail Telegraphs Germans are Preparing to Defend Themselves.

By United Press.
London, January 20.—The Teutonic forces gathered along the Greek frontier are falling back and preparing to defend themselves against attacks of the allies the Salonika correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphed today. The Bulgarians are destroying bridges and the Germans and Austrians are withdrawing infantry and cavalry from Monastir, he reported.

BALKAN SITUATION

Discussed by Italian Cabinet, Says a Dispatch From Rome.

SECRETARY DANIELS IN FAVOR OF PREPAREDNESS

Grilled Concerning Shortage of Naval Officers, Reported by Admiral Fletcher.

ADMITS CONDITION EXISTS

By United Press.
Washington, January 20.—Secretary Daniels today for the first time defended before Congress the administration naval preparedness program. He was grilled regarding alleged shortage of naval officers, as stated in Admiral Fletcher's report.

"Admiral Fletcher had in mind conditions that existed last year and to some extent now," said Daniels, admitting a shortage existed.

"There is a question whether we have enough officers on our ships. The German, French and Japanese navies have more per ship."

METHODISTS WIN FROM LUTHERANS, SCORE 18 TO 13

Exciting Game Staged Last Night at Lutheran Club Building Won by Wesley Class Team.

In a close and furiously contested game at the Lutheran Club building last night, the Wesley class of the Methodist Sunday School won from the L. S. A. S. team by a score of 18 to 13. The game, although not exactly a scientific exhibition of basketball, was a thriller throughout, both teams playing hard, with neither able to secure a comfortable lead at any stage. The fact that neither team had had much opportunity to develop any great amount of team work served to make the affair a little rough and Referee Droege was kept busy calling fouls.

The Lutherans led at the start, getting a field goal and a free throw before the Methodists counted one on a foul and a moment later tied the score with a field goal. Towards the end of the half the Methodists added two more points on fouls and another field goal while the Lutherans added one on a free throw, the half ending 7 to 4 in favor of the Methodists. In the second half the Methodist lead was cut down gradually until about the middle of the half, when the Lutherans went ahead, leading by a single point. Their lead however, was short lived when the Methodists staged a rally, featured by a sensational basket from the center of the floor by Gallemore, went back into the lead, and were never headed.

Summary:

YEAR IS CLOSED

many classes at all the buildings. Superintendent Mott says that the middle of the school year is an excellent time for children to begin their school work as the weather is favorable and they get well started in their courses before the warm days of spring come. However, no child who will not be six years old within a month from the opening of the new semester will be admitted to the classes. This means that children who do not reach their sixth birthday anniversary before February 29 will not be received.

It is expected that about fifty children will begin their school life with the opening of the new term. Arrangements have been made for the organization of the new classes in each primary department and they will be taught by the present teachers. It is thought that there will be an average class of seven or eight pupils in each building.

The beginning of the new semester means the taking up of a number of new subjects in some of the advanced classes. Part of the course in the high school and also in the grades is arranged for the entire year while other subjects are presented only during the first semester.

With the Senior class the second semester means the beginning of the last lap of their school career. Already there is some talk concerning the commencement exercises that will be held in June and the members of the class will have all preparations made long before the school year ends.

The first semester of this year has seen many improvements in the city school system. The policy of progress which has been followed has been emphasized in each department. The enrollment is larger than ever before and it is expected that the figures at the first of the second semester will exceed all former records.

ENGLAND MAY PUT OILS AND FATS ON CONTRABAND LIST

Raw Materials May be Utilized in Manufacture of Explosives, Say Chemists.

By United Press.

London, January 20—Great Britain is expected soon to put fats and oils on the list of absolute contraband, just as it did with cotton. Scientists have been demanding that this be done for some time, saying it is the ignorance of government officials concerning the use of fats and oils in the manufacture of high explosives which has left this raw material supply open to Germany this long. Prof. E. B. Poulton of Oxford calls it "the national neglect of science," saying in part: "It is dangerous that a country which depends on science for its existence and prosperity should be ruled by politicians and civil servants who, with hardly an exception, are utterly ignorant of science. Lawyer politicians, fixing their attention more steadily on American friendship than German defeat, have permitted the export from England of materials for propulsive ammunition—fats and oils." Cotton is already on the absolute contraband list, this action having been taken after a widespread campaign by scientists who claimed that cotton exported to Germany was merely so much ammunition for the German army. Sir William Ramsay, leader of the scientists' campaign against cotton, has begun a campaign against fats and oils which, he says, are vital to German ammunition making. Sir William declared today: "One third of German ammunition for heavy guns consists of nitroglycerine; and fats are the source of glycerine. I really can't understand the incredible folly of going on providing the Germans with means of killing our men. Untold thousands of lives and an ever growing volume of human misery are a terrible punishment for the neglect of science. It is possible that military experts are mistaken in thinking the final decision in this war can be reached by fighting. It may have to be reached by economic and financial pressure." England's official ignorance of science as applied to war has lengthened the struggle, Sir William declared, continuing: "If the government had seriously considered this possibility at the outset and made preparations accordingly, asking for and accepting advice on the subject, the war long would have been over." Many well known British scientists have joined Sir William in his newest campaign against the export of fats and oils. It is predicted that the government soon will turn over to the Navy the question of keeping Germany from getting these commodities.

INJURED WHILE SKATING.

Lee Craig, Teacher at Scottsburg High School, Falls on Ice.

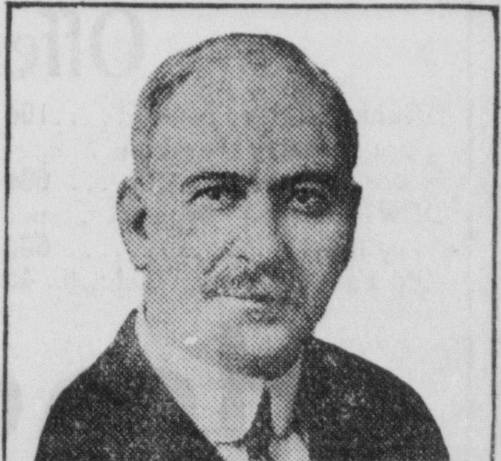

Lee Craig, a teacher in the high school at Scottsburg, is suffering from painful injuries he sustained when he fell while skating. He was skating rapidly and stumbled striking the ice on his face. Two teeth were broken out, his nose was badly hurt and his face was severely cut and bruised. He is unable to continue his work in the high school and may be absent from the building until next week. He is a Wabash College student and has a number of close friends here.

BUSINESS IS BASED ON CONFIDENCE

A Theory Put Into Practice by Well Known Business Man

J. C. BRADY

"A druggist has many opportunities to make lasting friends of his customers," said Mr. J. C. Brady, popular Rexall Pharmacist of Fall River, Mass. "The very nature of his business draws their confidence for little helpful suggestions on the matter of health. Many people have thanked me for recommending Rexall Orderlies as the best relief for constipation and its resultant ills. Put up in dainty candy tablet form, they are pleasant to the taste and make an ideal laxative for the home—for men, women and children alike."

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents.

AN INNOVATION.
(Kokomo Tribune.)

An interesting innovation is proposed in Howard county road work, that of road material men and road contractors paying the expenses of prospective road supervisors at Purdue university in the short course in highway improvement given at that school. This would indeed be a new departure. It would afford the material men and the contractors a fine opportunity to get into intimate relation with the men who will be on the jobs in the future. Maybe men can be found who are willing to consent to this little arrangement. If so, they should not object to being properly badged for identification. A collar suitably inscribed stating who paid the expenses and the amount so paid would materially assist the tax-paying public in keeping track of subsequent proceedings.

REPORTS WILL BE FILED SATURDAY

counts, who gives the information that the Wayne and Grouseman treaty lines intersect in the northeast part of this city. The Wayne line was established by General Wayne in 1805 and extends from the mouth of the Kentucky River to Ft. Recovery in Ohio. The other line known as the 10 o'clock line, has an interesting history. It was agreed that the boundary should be established according to the direction of the shadows at 10 o'clock in the morning. This line begins near this city and extends to the Wabash River, terminating near Terre Haute.

The fact that its direction was established by the shadows accounts for its irregularity.

The committee in charge of the county celebration has several plans in view and will probably make recommendations at the Saturday meeting. It is proposed that each town and township also have an appropriate celebration in honor of Indiana's one hundredth birthday anniversary and plans will be discussed following the report of the committee. The schools will play an important part in the local celebrations, it is stated.

Another plan that promises to receive general encouragement is the organization of a historical association in this county. The club will give special attention to Jackson county history but in time will take up the pioneer life in all parts of the state. Quite a large number of people in the county are greatly interested in the organization of this society and hope that the present plans will be successful. The committee appointed by Chairman Mott has talked with residents in various parts of the county concerning the proposed society and is expected to file a report Saturday.

The purpose of the Jackson County Historical Society is to encourage a more thorough study of local history in the schools as well as for the members to prepare and present papers before the members. A number of counties have recently organized such societies and find them popular.

The Gist of It.

"Last December I had a very severe cold and was nearly down sick in bed. I bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it was only a very few days until I was completely restored to health," writes O. J. Metcalf, Weatherby, Mo. If you would know the value of this remedy, ask any one who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.

VEGETABLE

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santanel Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santanel Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

LIBRARY NOTES.

New Non-Fiction.

Hilltop on the Marne.—Mildred Aldrich.

A series of most readable and unusually graphic letters written by an American woman, telling how she bought an old farm house near the Marne and made of it a quaint and delightful home, how she found herself directly in the line of march of the retreating English and advancing Germans (in the present war) and of her exciting and amusing experiences with the human soldier.—A. L. A. Booklist.

Stories to tell to children.—S. C. Bryant. A splendid collection for teachers and mothers.

degree will be conferred by Seymour lodge and at the Rebekah meeting the degree will be conferred by Crothersville Rebekah lodge. Refreshments and receptions for the visiting officers will follow both meetings.

Among the grand officers who will be present for the meeting are Grand Master Jesse Macbeth, of Fort Wayne, Grand Patriarch Fred Stewart, of Washington, Grand Warden Du Prees of Franklin, and Mrs. Mary A. Stipp, of Michigan City, president of the Rebekah Assembly.

Reports received from the various lodges of the county by District Deputy Frank L. Schornick, indicate that good delegations will be present for the meetings, and the degree meeting in the evening will probably bring out the largest crowds of any Odd Fellow meeting held here in recent years.

Constipation and Indigestion.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and must say they are the best I have ever used for constipation and indigestion. My wife also used them for indigestion and they did her good," writes Eugene S. Knight, Wilmington, N. C. Obtainable everywhere.

cans feel that because of existing local conditions in the county the party candidates have an excellent change of being elected and are quite optimistic over the prospects.

The primary law requires that the precinct committeemen be elected at the primaries and it is necessary that the candidates file their petitions in accurate form. In several townships there will be a contest for this office and it is expected that several candidates will announce. The precinct committeemen by virtue of their position are members of the county advisory board and confer with the county chairman in arranging important steps to be taken.

Several candidates are in the field for county chairman, it is stated. Frank Brady, the present incumbent, would like to be reelected and George Peter, of this city, is contemplating the race. It is also stated that J. H. Andrews may get into the fight before the date for filing petitions had expired. Other Republicans are said to be considering the race.

That there will be several candidates for each of the county offices is indicated by reports which have been coming to the county chairman and other leaders. Several names have been mentioned in connection with the race for sheriff and an interesting contest is anticipated. Official announcement will not be made, until the preliminary plans for the primary have been outlined by the conference.

Joseph Waskom Dead.

Joseph Waskom, one of the oldest men in Jackson county, died this afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Waskom, near the New Driftwood church. He was born in Shelby county, Ky., eighty-three years ago and moved to this county with his parents when a child and spent his entire life here. Mr. Waskom had been confined to his bed for several months. There are nine children and a number of other relatives living in this city.

The funeral services will be conducted from the New Driftwood church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. C. V. Weddell, of Medora, assisted by Elder G. M. Shuts, of this city. Burial at the church cemetery.

Benjamin Nicholson Dead.

Benjamin Nicholson died this morning at his home in Washington county, following a short illness of several days of pneumonia. Mr. Nicholson was taken ill several days ago and owing to his advanced age of seventy-eight years his condition at once became serious. The widow and several children survive. The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the residence. Burial at the Pollick cemetery.

O. A. Dart, who is employed here, received a telephone message from his father, Alexander Dart, of Commiskey, today that his brother, Ulla, aged seventeen, was in a serious condition with pneumonia fever. The lad was taken sick last week with a cold which developed rapidly in the fever.

Women's Clubs Have Done Much To Encourage the Study of Art

The study of art has been given a pronounced impetus in recent years by the Women's Clubs. In some places organizations have been effected that devote their entire time to this subject and practically all the clubs in Indiana are cooperating to stimulate interest in it. Programs of the various organizations reveal that several meetings each year are given over to papers and discussions on art and kindred subjects.

Art is a lifetime study. It is one that is ever opening up new and undeveloped channels. For this reason only the surface is barely touched by a casual study and it is not until the underlying principles are taken up thoroughly that the great possibilities are seen. Many of the women's literary organizations have made a brief study of the subject in order that they might be able to make a more minute analysis of the programs prepared by their committees. Many of the books that are reviewed refer directly or indirectly to the subject of art and quite a few of the characters that are presented are associated in one way or another with it.

A few women's clubs throughout the country have been instrumental in building or inaugurating the movement to build art institutes or places where canvases by well known artists can be exhibited. In other places, where it is possible to do so, a part of the city hall, library or school has been turned over by the respective managements for this purpose. Exhibits of this character become the property of the city in many places and almost without exception are open to the public each day. In this way general interest is more thoroughly aroused and the exhibit becomes a popular place. New pictures are viewed with enthusiasm as soon as their arrival is announced.

In this city the foundation for a valuable art collection has been laid through the efforts of the Seymour Art League. The League is yet in its infancy but already several very commendable exhibits have been given. At these exhibits pictures of great value which many local people would never have had an opportunity to see have been brought here without expense to the general public. No admission is charged to the exhibitions, the expense being taken care of by the League members. Since the organization of the Seymour Art League a number of valuable paintings have been donated to the collection by artists who have a personal interest in the success of the movement. At each exhibit several pictures have been purchased and added to the local collection.

The value that comes from such a movement is great. It is best realized by those who are devoting their time and efforts in that direction. They see the result that may effect every home in the city. A new conception of harmony in colors is given to the school children who are thrown in the atmosphere so noticeable at such an exhibit. These ideas will never leave the child. They become a part of him to be developed after they enter their own homes.

In cities where the study of art has been generally received and encouraged the effect is evident upon the city itself. There is a demand for the "City Beautiful" and many little unsightly marks that would have been permitted a few years ago are eliminated or corrected so as not to mar the general plan. This does not always call for costly and pretentious enterprises. In fact, some of the most effective results are obtained without the expenditure of any money and frequently without additional labor.

MARGARET MASON'S FASHION LETTER

(Written for the United Press.)

If lovely women will wear borrowed plumage, quite the most artistic and fashionable place to borrow it at the present moment is from the tail of a peacock. That is, of course, if she counts thirteen as her lucky number, doesn't mind opening an umbrella indoors and laughs shattered mirrors to scorn. It isn't strange that the peacock should come into its own again as a modish fowl, considering it has ever been a symbol of vanity and the household pet of June in her early days of light house keeping on Mount Olympus. Now the gorgeous fowls are used not only as fans, in head dresses for evening and as garniture for hats, but the lovely blue and green eyes of the feathers are utilized in any number of ingenious ways as gown and wrap trimmings.

At a smart literary tea the other afternoon appeared a veritable Peacock Lady whose penchant for the plumes was carried to unique lengths. The buttons of her heavy, loose wrap were made of the eyes of the peacock feathers under discs of glass backed and bound in gilt. She also wore a charm on a long chain of blue and green enamel made of double glass discs rimmed in gold and revealing a peacock eye on each side. Her hat was a close fitting turban formed of the iridescent bluish green breast feathers of the bird, while a wonderful scarf of the breast feathers swathed her skin and throat in lieu of fur. Replicas of these fascinating feathers now form the motif of embroidered designs on many rich evening gowns and wraps and the craze for peacock jewelry steadily gains.

Rings and brooches showing the fowl in its entirety, have its tail encrusted with semi-precious sparkling stones of green and blue. Either with its tail drooping or reared and proudly unfurled like a fan in all its glory, the clever metal and gem craftsmen depict the peacock on combs for the hair, shoe buckles, pendants. The tiny gold or silver, gem encrusted birds even swing in Beauty's ears. They are spangled or beaded on hand bags and hosiery in effective exterior decoration of the frail and fair; also the buxom and brunette. For interior decoration, Sterner, the artist, has proved their effectiveness in his own beautiful home.

So here you have the tale of the peacock's fashionable tail and all it entails.

King George's Favorite Salad.

The following is said to be the favorite salad of the King of England: Take two heads lettuce, uncut each leaf and tear into three pieces as it drops into the bowl. Take two bunches of radishes, very small ones, have them pared, quarter each radish as it goes into the bowl. Take very small cucumbers and have them shared. Allow six stone olives cut in eighths, one large apple or three small ones, sliced very thin; toss together lightly with a French dressing made very thick with oil and spicy with pepper; serve at once.

Beaten Biscuits.

Rub together 1 quart of sifted flour, one-half teaspoonful of lard, one-half teaspoonful of butter and one teaspoonful of salt. Mix with sweet milk into a stiff dough. Beat this with a wooden mallet (or your rolling-pin) until it blisters thoroughly. Usually it will require half an hour of steady beating. Then roll and cut as any biscuit, stick each one with a fork in several places and bake in a hot oven till brown. This is a Southern delicacy seldom found on a

Northern table, probably because the Northern cook declines to use the strength necessary to make them. They are simply delicious when made right, and to be perfect must be served as soon as baked. The Southern cook puts one tin of biscuit in the oven to bake, when the first one is placed on the table, so that they are always fresh and hot.

Use For Old Kid Gloves.

Cut off the hands and save the arms of your long kid gloves. Use them for polishing mirrors, cut-glass, and jewels. Out of the tops of old tan or grey gloves you can make charming bags for carrying opera glasses, etc. Cut the kid to the same pattern as is used for silk or velvet bags, line with silk of any pretty color, and trace your initials on the outside in water colors or with embroidery silk.

Sport Coat of White Chinchilla

Wool chinchilla in dark colors is an old favorite for winter coats, and is worn by men, women and children. It remained for the smart sport coat to bring out the unequalled fitness of white chinchilla for garments in which style is of as much importance as warmth, and both are essential to success.

White chinchilla appears with ever-increasing frequency in mid-winter coats for little girls, and smart sport coats for women. The latter are cut in simple lines and long, like the coat pictured, or shaped like sweater coats. Many novel touches in little details of finishing make them interesting, and they are carefully and beautifully finished.

These points are demonstrated by the coat illustrated here very clearly. It has a big convertible collar which may be buttoned up about the ears, and the revers are faced with moire plush in black. Very accurate parallel rows of machine stitching ornament the coat at the bottom and adorn the collar, cuffs and pocket flaps. The buttons are white composition barred with black, except the two that fasten the metal belt across the front, which is finished with tabs of black at each side. These buttons are black with white rims.

The sleeves and body portion of the coat are lined with soft black satin, and the shaping of the sleeves and arm's-eye is noticeably original and appropriate to the material.

A coat of this kind will pass muster wherever discriminating eyes will be met and outing coats are worn. Comfort and style go with it and that poise which belongs to the wearer who is conscious of its fitness.

Favorite Recipes

CINNAMON ROLLS.

Two cups of flour, two-thirds cup of milk, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-third cup stoned raisins, finely chopped, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of citron, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon. Method: Mix us for baking powder biscuits; roll to one-quarter inch thickness, brush over with melted butter and sprinkle with fruit, sugar and cinnamon; roll like jelly roll, cut off pieces three-fourths inch in thickness. Place on a buttered tin and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. Note: Currants may be used in place of raisins and citron.

RARE MARMALADE.

Measure one quart ripe peeled and cut up tomatoes, bring to a boil and skim. Add two pounds sugar, two oranges and one lemon. Remove the pulp from fruit with a spoon, boil the rinds until tender and cut them in narrow strips. Boil all together slowly, stirring frequently for two hours or until the marmalade is thick and the strips of peel transparent. Seal tight in small cans. Yellow tomatoes make a beautiful marmalade.

Orange or Lemon Sirup—Add about one and one-half pounds sugar to each pint strained juice, and also some of the yellow rind. Boil ten minutes, then strain, bottle and cork it. The juice of any acid fruit can be made into a sirup by the above recipe, and is very nice to have on hand for a summer drink.

SUET PUDDING.

One cupful of molasses, one cupful of sweet milk, one cupful of suet chopped fine, or one-half cupful of melted butter, one cupful of raisins, one-half cupful of currants, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda. Mix well and steam two hours.

Sauce for Pudding—One-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful butter, one teaspoonful of corn-starch and one pint of boiling water. Boil five minutes and add a teaspoonful of vanilla.

CRANBERRY PUDDING.

One cup of sugar, one cup of milk, two cups of flour, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one large cup of raw cranberries, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of soda. Bake in brick form. When cold cut and serve in slices with cream sauce.

For cream sauce mix one cup of cream and one-half cup of sugar with the beaten white of an egg. Beat until light. Cut lightly through this one-half cup of cranberry jelly. This makes a very pretty pudding.

SOUFFLE PUDDING.

Take one-half pint of milk, three ounces of butter and bring to boil; then stir in quickly three-quarters of a pound of flour and stir until it is loose from pot. Then take it from the fire and stir in one-quarter pound of sugar and from four to six eggs, one at a time; add vanilla or any kind of flavor. After this, put in a pudding pan and bake three-quarters of an hour. Serve with fruit sauce.

SALAD CREAM.

Take one-half teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, mix with one tablespoonful of sugar and one egg, slightly beaten. Pour on this three-fourths cup of cream and one-fourth cup of scalded vinegar and two and one-half tablespoonfuls melted butter. Cook in a double boiler until it thickens. Cool and pour over cold slaw.

SPANISH SALAD.

Chop olives and pimientos up fine; mix with creamed Neufchatel cheese, roll into small balls about the size of a bird's egg; place three or four balls on a lettuce leaf, cover with mayonnaise, sprinkle chopped nut meats on top with a cherry or olive, and serve individually.

Cooking Vegetables.

The housekeeper should always remember the rule regarding the cooking of vegetables. Both the top ground and underground ones should be placed in boiling water, but those which grow above the earth should have salt placed in the water before the vegetables are put in, while those which grow beneath the ground are to be cooked in unsalted water. Such underground vegetables as parsnips, beets, turnips and carrots are possessed of a woody fiber which is softened by the water from which the salt is omitted. If salt is cooked with these vegetables, however, they become tasteless and soggy and the color is lost.

Where eggs are high, a teaspoonful of gelatine dissolved, strained and stirred into a boiled custard just before it comes from the fire will take the place of two small eggs. Five eggs to a quart of milk is the proportion for boiled custard, but four will do. Using the gelatine will reduce the number to two.

Corn-starch is also an excellent substitute, a teaspoonful being about equal to one egg in thickening.

A Time Saver.

If women who make their own bread would try making liquid yeast enough to last for several times they would find it much more convenient than making it fresh each time they make bread. The following recipe makes one quart of liquid yeast and is sufficient for several times, using one-fourth cupful to one loaf. It will keep nicely if kept in a cool, dark place. Put one tablespoonful of salt into one quart boiling water, grate three medium-sized potatoes into water and let cook a few minutes. Cool and add one cake yeast foam previously soaked in lukewarm water. Bottle this and put in cool, dark place for twenty-four hours before using. It is a great help to have the yeast ready prepared, especially when one is busy or in a hurry.

Waste Space Used.

There is usually a large amount of waste space in a closet above the customary one shelf and above the hooks at the side, and unless one is a permanent resident one rarely cares to add a second shelf.

A most useful arrangement and an exceedingly simple one is to drive in long nails (four-inch ones are excellent), and it is wise to wind the nails round with strips of material or crepe paper to prevent them rusting and staining things. On these extra nails may be hung hats, boas, scarfs and even muffs, parasols with curved or crooked handles may also be suspended out of the way and deprived of their specialty of falling cross-wise in the closet and becoming wedged in a corner.

Hoosier History in Tabloid.

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

Conspiracy Exposed.

The uprising had no chance of materializing. "Morton had long been on the track of these secret enemies, and an elaborate detective system had been established." Each meeting of the conspirators had been attended by a number of government men, who were not even known to each other. In several instances these government detectives, who were received into membership, were rewarded for their arduous in the cause by being elected to the responsible offices. Governor Morton often knew fully of the schemes of the leaders before they were announced to the members themselves for execution.

D. W. White, a Vallonia merchant, attended the conference of county Republicans here today.

OPPOSES MILITARY TRAINING IN HIGH SCHOOLS OF U. S.

Mrs. Frank H. Harris Takes This Attitude in Address Before Mothers Congress.

San Francisco, Cal., January 20—San Francisco women at the local Mothers Congress met today to endorse the idea "I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be a Soldier" and to discuss their stand on military training in high schools. Mrs. Frank H. Harris, president, spoke in opposition to the plan, saying in part: "Such training comes at a time when the mind, soul and body of the boy are in the formative period. We should be careful what influences bear upon the boy at that time; whether they foster the spirit of militarism or of peace, kindness and harmonious adjustment of difficulties." Replying to the argument that such training inculcates obedience, Mrs. Harris said that even so, its real object was "the ultimate taking of human life." "If, as a nation," she continued, "we feel it necessary to prepare for defense then let it be through mechanical devices and armaments manned by those of mature years who have chosen this calling, rather than by militarizing the young and innocent of humanity, not capable of judging for themselves."

SEYMOUR DRUGGIST PLEASES CUSTOMERS

C. E. Loertz reports customers greatly pleased with the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. This simple remedy drains the old foul matter from the bowels so THOROUGH that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. It is so powerful that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-ika never gripes and the INSTANT action is surprising.

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR TELLS STORY OF MOHR MURDER

Testifies That Widow Offered $5,000 For the Death of Her Husband—Relates Conversation.

Providence, R. I., January 20—Returning to the stand today in the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr and her two negro co-defendants, George Healis, chauffeur of the death car in which Dr. Mohr was killed, told the complete story of the crime in which the widow offered the blacks $5,000 to slay her husband.

"We were to have killed Mohr on Saturday night, but I lost my nerve and threw all the speed the automobile had. On Friday night, August 27, I went to Mrs. Mohr's home with Brown.

"Mrs. Mohr asked Brown, 'How is everything?' and he said, 'O. K.'"

"Brown said he knew all the roads, and Mrs. Mohr said Brown would get $2,000, Spellman, $1,000 and I would get $2,000.

Bad Cold Quickly Broken Up.

Mrs. Martha Wileox, Gowanda, N. Y., writes: "I first used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy about eight years ago. At that time I had a hard cold and coughed most of the time. It proved to be just what I needed. It broke up the cold in a few days, and the cough entirely disappeared. I have told many of my friends of the good I received through using this medicine, and all who have used it speak of it in the highest terms." Obtainable everywhere.

Injured By Fall.

Miss Iris Wiggington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Wiggington, of East St. Louis, Ill., is seriously ill at her home from injuries received in a fall on the ice. She was returning from school when she slipped on the ice-covered sidewalk, striking the back of her head. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggington and daughter formerly lived in Seymour. Mrs. Joseph Stein, the girl's grandmother, went to East St. Louis today.

STEAMER IN DISTRESS

British Ship, Pollentia, Stranded Off Cape Race.

By United Press.

Halifax, January 20—Leaking and in distress, the British steamer, Pollentia, early today sent out calls for aid.

She is about seventy miles off Cape Race. She reported her pumps unable to check the inflow of water. A liner is steamer towards the British boat.

WEAK, NERVOUS OHIO WOMAN

Made Well By Delicious Vinol—Bellefontaine, Ohio.—"My blood was very poor—I was in a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I tried different remedies without benefit and one day my druggist told me about Vinol. I tried it and it built me up in every way—blood, strength and nerves, and I tell my friends it is the best medicine on earth."—Mrs. EARL BRUNSON. Seven Keys TO Baldpate

By
EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill
Company

CHAPTER XVII. The Open Window.

MAGEE stood up, and in the light of the fire met Hayden. Now he saw that the face of the latest comer was scheming and weak and that under a small blond mustache a very cruel mouth sought to hide. The stranger gazed at Magee with an annoyance plainly marked.

"A friend of mine—Mr.—er—Downs. Mr. Magee, muttered Bland.

"Oh, come now," smiled Magee. "Let's tell our real names. I heard you greeting your friend a minute ago. How are you, Mr. Hayden?"

He held out his hand. Hayden looked at him angrily in the eyes.

"Who the devil are you?" he asked.

"Do you mean," said Magee, "that you didn't catch the name. It's Magee—William Hallowell Magee. I hold a record hereabouts, Mr. Hayden. I spent nearly an hour at Baldpate inn—alone. You see, I was the first of our amiable little party to arrive. Let me make you welcome. Are you staying to dinner? You must."

"I'm not," growled Hayden.

"Don't believe him, Mr. Magee," sneered the mayor, "he doesn't always say what he means. He's going to stay, all right."

"Yes, you'd better, Mr. Hayden," advised Bland.

"Huh—delighted, I'm sure," snapped Hayden.

"Peters," said Magee, "an extra plate at dinner, please. I must leave you for a moment, gentlemen." He saw that their eyes followed him eagerly—full of suspicion, menacing.

"Murder—that is hardly in your line."

Hayden slipped quickly between Magee and the stairs. The latter faced him smilingly, reflecting as he did so that he could love this man but little.

"Who are you?" said Hayden again. "What is your business here?"

Magee laughed outright and turned to the other men.

"How unfortunate," he said, "this gentleman does not know the manners and customs of Baldpate in winter. Those are questions, Mr. Hayden, that we are never impolite enough to ask of one another up here."

He ran upstairs and passed through No. 7 out upon the balcony. Trudging through the snow, he soon sighted the room of Professor Bolton. And as he did so a little shiver that was not due to atmospheric conditions ran down his spine, for one of the professor's windows stood wide open, bidding a welcome to the mountain storm. Peters had spoken the truth. Once more that tight little, right little package was within Mr. Magee's ken.

He stepped through the open window and closed it after him. By the table sat Professor Bolton, wrapped in coats and blankets, reading by the light of a solitary candle.

"Good evening, professor," said Magee easily. "Don't you find it rather cool with the window open?"

"Mr. Magee," replied the much wrapped gentleman, "I am that rather disturbing progressive—a fresh air devotee. I feel that God's good air was meant to be breathed; not barricaded from our bodies."

"Perhaps," suggested Magee, "I should have left the window open?"

The old man regarded him narrowly.

"I have no wish to be inhospitable," he replied. "But, if you please"—

"Certainly," answered Magee. He threw open the window. The professor held up his book.

"I was passing the time before dinner with my pleasant old companion, Montaigne. Mr. Magee, have you ever read his essay on liars?"

"Never," said Magee. "But I do not blame you for brushing up on it at the present time, professor. I have come to apologize. Yesterday morning I referred in a rather unpleasant way to a murder in the chemical laboratory at one of our universities. I said that the professor of chemistry was missing. This morning's paper, which I secured from Mr. Peters, informs me that he has been apprehended."

"You need not have troubled to tell me," said the old man. He smiled his bleak smile.

"I did you an injustice," went on Magee.

"Let us say no more of it," pleaded Professor Bolton.

Mr. Magee walked about the room. Warily the professor turned so that the other was at no instant at his back. He looked so helpless, so little, so ineffectual, that Mr. Magee abandoned his first plan of leaping upon him there in the silence.

"I suppose," he said, "your love of fresh air accounts for the strolls on the balcony at all hours of the night?"

The old man merely blinked at him.

"I mustn't stop," Magee continued. "I just wanted to make my apology, that's all. It was unjust of me. Murder—that is hardly in your line. By the way, were you by any chance in my room this morning, Professor Bolton?"

Silence.

"Pardon me," remarked the professor at last, "if I do not answer. In this very essay on—on liars, Montaigne has expressed it so well. 'And how much is a false speech less sociable than silence?' I am a sociable man."

"Of course," smiled Magee. He stood looking down at the frail old scholar before him and considered. Of what avail a scuffle there in that chill room?

He went out through the open window, and in another moment stood just outside Miss Norton's room. She put a startled head out at his knock.

"Oh, it's you," she said. "I can't invite you in. You might learn terrible secrets of the dressing table—mamma is bedecking herself for dinner. Has anything happened?"

"Throw something over your head, Juliet," smiled Magee; "the balcony is waiting for you."

She was at his side in a moment, and they walked briskly along the shadowy white floor.

"I know who has the money," said Magee softly. "Simply through a turn of luck I know. I realize that my protestations of what I am going to do have bored you. But it looks very much to me as if that package would be in your hands very soon."

She did not reply.

"And when I have got it and have given it to you—if I do," he continued, "what then?"

"Then," she answered, "I must go away—very quickly. And no one must know or they will try to stop me."

"And after that?"

"The deluge," she laughed without mirth.

Up above them the great trees of Baldpate mountain waved their black arms constantly as though sparring with the storm. At the foot of the burlied roadway they could see the lamps of Upper Asquewan Falls; under those lamps prosaic citizens were hurrying home with the supper groceries through the night. And not one of those citizens was within miles of guessing that up on the balcony of Baldpate inn a young man had seized a young woman's hand and was saying wildly, "Beautiful girl—I love you."

Yet that was exactly what Billy Magee was doing. The girl had turned her face away.

"You've known me just two days," she said.

"If I can care this much in two days," he said, "think—but that's old, isn't it? Some time soon I'm going to say to you, 'Whose girl are you?' and you're going to look up at me with a little heaven for two in your eyes and say, 'I'm Billy Magee's girl.' So before we go any further I must confess everything—I must tell you who this Billy Magee is—this man you're going to admit you belong to, my dear."

"You read the future glibly," she replied. "Are your prophecies true, I wonder?"

"Absolutely. Some time ago—on my soul, it was only yesterday!—I asked if you had read a certain novel called 'The Lost Limousine,' and you said you had and that it wasn't sincere. Well, I wrote it—"

"Oh!" cried the girl.

"Yes," said Magee, "and I've done others like it. Oh, yes, my muse has been a nouveau riche lady in a Worth gown; my ambition, a big red motorcar. I've been a 'scramble a cent, mister,' troubadour beckoning from the bookstalls. I turned tired of that sort, and I decided to try the other kind—the real kind."

"Don't tell me," whispered the girl, "that you came up here to—to—"

"Yes," smiled Magee. "I came up here to forget forever the world's giddy melodrama."

The girl leaned limply against the side of Baldpate inn.

"Oh, the irony of it!" she cried.

"I know," he said, "it's ridiculous. I think all this is meant just for temptation. I'll do the real stuff, so that when you say—as you certainly must some day—I'm Billy Magee's girl, you can say it proudly."

"I'm sure," she said softly, "that if I ever do say it—oh, no, I didn't say I would!"—for he had seized her hands quickly—"if I ever do say it—it will certainly be proudly. But now—you don't even know my name—my right one. You don't know what I do nor where I come from nor what I want with this disgusting bundle of money. I sort of feel, you know, that this is in the air at Baldpate even in the winter time. No sooner have the men come than they begin to talk of love—to whatever girls they find here—on this very balcony—down there under the trees. And the girls listen, for it's in the air, that's all. Then autumn comes, and everybody laughs and forgets. May not our autumn come—when I go away?"

"Never!" cried Magee. "This is no summer hotel affair to me. It's a real in winter and summer love, my dear. In spring and fall, and when you go away I'm going, too, about ten feet behind."

"Yes," she laughed, "they talk that way at Baldpate—the last weeks of summer. It's part of the game." They had come to the side of the hotel on which was the annex, and the girl stopped and pointed. "Look!" she whispered breathlessly.

In the window of the annex had appeared for a moment a flickering yellow light.

"I know," said Mr. Magee. "There's somebody in there. But that isn't important in comparison. This is no summer affair, dear. I love you, and when you go away I shall follow."

"And the book?"

"I have found better inspiration than Baldpate inn."

They walked along for a time in silence.

"You forget," said the girl, "you only know who has the money."

"I will get it," he answered confidently. "Something tells me I will. (To be Continued)

Plus Five Trademarks from Quaker Oats Packages, Standard Size or Plus Two Trademarks from Quaker Oats Packages, Large Size

This Quaker Cooker

Due to the wonderful popularity and insistent demand from thousands of Quaker Oats users, we have decided to again make a Special Cooker Offer.

We have supplied perfect double Cookers to over 700,000 homes, to make Quaker Oats more delightful. They are made to our order to bring out the fullness of the flavor and aroma.

Such a Cooker as this, if sold at retail, would cost more than most homes would pay. But our purpose requires it in every home where Quaker Oats are used, so we ourselves supply it.

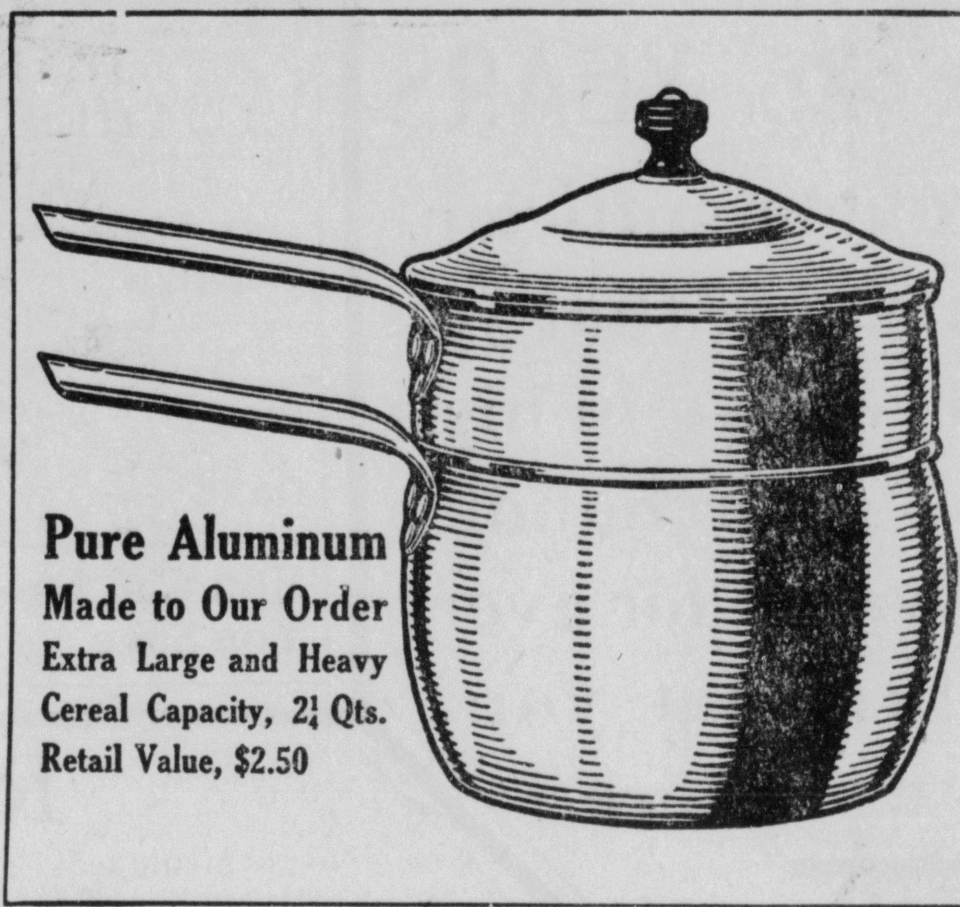

Our purpose is this: To create more Quaker Oats users, by making this the best-loved morning dish.

To this end, we use queen grains only in this brand—just the big, plump grains. We get but ten pounds per bushel. That means that two-thirds of the oats as they come to us are discarded in making Quaker Oats. The result is large, luscious flakes. They make this dish doubly-delicious. Yet they cost you no extra price.

These flavory flakes have won the world to Quaker. In a hundred nations this is the favorite brand. Millions of oat lovers send thousands of miles to get it.

Our next object is right cooking, and we offer this Cooker to every home to attain it. But we supply only one to a home.

Get this Cooker next week under this special offer. You want children to delight in this vim-food. You want them to eat an abundance. The way to attain that is to serve Quaker Oats cooked in this Quaker Cooker.

Next week's offer is this: Send us five trademarks—the picture of the Quaker—cut from the fronts of five Quaker Oats packages, standard size, or two from the large size. Send with them only 50 cents, check or money order preferred, and we will send the Cooker by parcel post prepaid.

For one week—for next week—we cut the payment in two. For 50c you get this big Aluminum Cooker. But this offer will not be repeated. No requests will be honored unless mailed next week.

Note the grocers who have displays of Quaker Oats featuring the Quaker Cooker. Learn about the Cooker, and if you approve, arrange next week to get it. Please don't forget.

Basket Ball Notes.

The Methodist team appeared in new outfits, with a large 'M' worked in red on their white jerseys. The boys made a good appearance, and, with a little more experience should develop into a good team. There are enough men in the squad for two full teams, and practice scrimmages will be held regularly. A game with the Austin team for next week is being arranged.

There is talk of teams being organized in other Sunday Schools of the city, and it is more than likely that by next year a Sunday School league, with a regular playing schedule, may be effected. The lack of a centrally located and thoroughly equipped playing floor is one of the great drawbacks to such a movement, as neither the high school gymnasium or the Lutheran Club, the only two floors in the city, are available at all times. Thus again is the need of a Y. M. C. A. building, with adequate gymnasium facilities, brought home to us.

Their first home game since the holidays will be played by the high school team tomorrow night, when their old rivals, North Vernon, comes for their first game with the locals. The North Vernon boys claim to have the best team they have had for several years, and promise the locals a hard game. Much interest in being manifested in the contest and a big crowd is expected.

The Lutheran team has many requests for games and some interesting exhibitions are promised for the near future. The boys are playing a good game and will make things interesting for any team they go up against.

Women of Sedentary Habits:

Women who get but little exercise are likely to be troubled with constipation and indigestion and will find Chamberlain's Tablets highly beneficial. Not so good as a three or four mile walk every day, but very much better than to allow the bowels to remain in a constipated condition. They are easy and pleasant to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

SEYMOUR LANDS 1917 CONVENTION.

canes, cards and advertising from the time they stepped off the train, and the convention evidently liked the way they went about it and realized that if there were any more like them at home that the chances for a successful meeting at Seymour were very bright.

The 1917 convention of the Retail Merchants' Association will bring to Seymour hundreds of the most progressive merchants from all corners of Indiana and will prove one of the most important gatherings held in the city in recent years. The local association, and especially the delegates who worked to secure the meeting, are to be congratulated on bringing the meeting to this city, and it is safe to say that the local merchants will outdo themselves to see that the 1917 meeting is one of the best, biggest and most enjoyable ones ever held.

It is the hope of the local merchants that the new New Lynn hotel will be completed in time for the entertainment of the merchants. The new hotel structure will be a great help in securing many similar meetings for the city, and northern Indiana cities which have been landing all state conventions and meetings will find they are to have a little competition from the southern part of the state.
